

Unit 11. Lessons 17-18

1. With a partner, act out the roles on Describing people.

Example:

Role 1: Describer I'll describe a person to you, and you'll have to guess who it is based on my description. Are you ready?

Role 2: Guesser Yes, I'm ready!

Role 1: Describer Great! Here's the description: This person has short, curly hair and wears glasses. They have a friendly smile and always dress neatly. They are known for their love of books and often seen carrying a backpack full of novels. They enjoy spending time outdoors and have a passion for hiking and photography. Can you guess who it is?

Role 2: Guesser Hmm, based on the description, I think it might be Sarah. She matches the description with her curly hair, glasses, and love of books.

Role 1: Describer That's correct! It is Sarah. Well done! Now it's your turn to describe a person to me, and I'll guess who it is.

Role 2: Describer Alright, here's the description: This person is tall and athletic with short, brown hair and piercing blue eyes. They have a confident demeanor and are often seen wearing a baseball cap and sneakers. They have a passion for music and play the guitar in a band. In their free time, they enjoy skateboarding and hanging out with friends at the local skate park. Can you guess who it is?

Role 1: Guesser Hmm, based on the description, I think it might be Alex. He matches the description with his athletic build, love for music, and skateboarding hobby.

Role 2: Describer That's correct! It is Alex. Well done! It's fun describing and guessing people, isn't it?

Role 1: Guesser Definitely! It's a great way to practice observation and deduction skills. Thanks for playing with me!

Role 2: Describer You're welcome! Let's do it again sometime.

2. With a partner, act out the roles below based on Task 7. Then switch the roles.
